My name is YuchenZhao, I am a junior at MSU. My major is media and information. My main study is game design, but I think web design is also very interesting. In this month and a half of study, I have mastered how to make a simple web page. This final assignment is also a novel challenge for me.

In this homework, I decided to design a web page to introduce myself, including novel experiences or challenges in my growth, as well as my hobbies. I will divide these into different sections to show you. I hope you can get a comprehensive understanding of me through these, and I will also be very happy to be able to share my things with you
